

ONCO
PETROLEUM
INC.

April 14, 2010

Robert Vanier and Terri Ramage and Wayne Vansevenant

We have been advised that you are notifying some of the shareholders of Onco Petroleum Inc. that you are "calling a shareholder's meeting" of the shareholders of Onco Petroleum Inc.

We wish to advise you that that the company takes the position that you have no authority to call this meeting of shareholders.

Further, we advise you that the company will not recognize any illegal attempt by anyone to call this shareholders' meeting.

Finally, we wish to remind you that the company is currently under a court supervised receiver/manager. We will provide another copy of the court order in the event that you have misplaced or lost your previous copies of the court order.

We strongly recommend that you obtain a legal opinion as to the meaning of this court order and the effects the court order has upon the rights and obligations of the company and all parties associated with the corporation, including however not limited to; debtors, creditors and shareholders.

Please govern yourself accordingly.

The Board